Back In Business

As you have instantly seen, the DRD is again professionally produced. We'll disregard that Ed Willis worked for thanks alone; his typesetting and layout were a superior effort. Now, the local Minuteman Press Franchise in Medina assumes that part of Ed's function at a cost that the Board of Trustees believes to be within our means.

Send in the copy to me and, better yet, find the time and equipment to do the whole job for nothing but the Club's thanks. Know that the Club has all the software as well as a ZIP drive that you'll need to go with your computer.

This issue remains a one page with no pictures. There was not enough text to justify a second page. Moreover, you need to have the Holiday Party announcement early and I was out of town the crucial third week of November.

-Peter Perry.

PARTY! PARTY! PARTY!

CPS's Annual Holiday Party with Robber's Gift Exchange rolls around on Friday, December 8. We do this fun event pot-luck style. The Club provides the Hors d'oeuvres, Ham and Turkey, plates, utensils and bread. YOU bring a vegetable dish, or desert (both enough for ten), and friends (one apiece is enough).

And do bring and up-to-$5.00 gift, wrapped appropriately, for the Robber's Gift Exchange. This is often photographic, but often is not. While gifts are distributed by chance, the Robbers ensure that you very likely will not leave with the gift you originally received. Great fun here!

Cost to you is $6.00 each. BYOB. Make reservations by Dec. 3 with Lana Kuhns 330-562-4135 or Doug Kerner 216-521-3453.

Commercial Pix

Friday, Jan. 26, Greg Hildebrand, Commercial photographer talks about and shows his commercial work. Since a number of us work around the margins of commercial photography, hearing a full time worker talk shop would at least be interesting and perhaps even specifically helpful.

Member News

Elaine Kukral will have a print in a Cleveland Hopkins Airport Show sometime in January. Theme of the show is "Joyqus Moments".

Stove Sorin's three prints in the current JCC show at the Cleveland Heights location joins Michelle Kovach's and Peter Perry's prints mentions here last month. The Show ends Dec. 15.
